

Newspaper: The Times

Date: June 27, 2007

Page: _____

End the buy-backs

State budget. Does anybody out there realize that when you work for the state, the state and you are a family and your husband or spouse carries the health insurance, the state pays the employees $500 four times a year — $2,000 a year per person — for not taking the health insurance. If you don't take the health insurance they pay you for not taking the health insurance. We don't get paid if we can't afford our health insurance. We have to pay our own insurance. If they don't need the insurance why do they get a check? It's not right. Look into it